

Since journey nurtures are meant to align with the buyer's journey, it's important that marketers take a close look at where nurture campaigns are either succeeding or stalling, in order to improve future campaigns.